JOHN A. STILES,
NOTED RANCHER, IS FOUND DEAD

Heart Trouble Believed Cause of Death, on Ranch in Sioux County

WAS WIDELY KNOWN

Cattle Company Said to be Largest of its Kind in the Entire West

John A. Stiles, head of Stiles Cattle Company of Ft. Yates, Sioux county, one of the best known figures in the cattle business in the Northwest, was found dead in bed on his ranch 14 miles from Ft. Yates, according to information reaching here.

Heart trouble is said to have been the cause of his death. When found apparently lifeless on his ranch yesterday morning his body was still warm and it was thought that he might be in a state of coma. Doctors were summoned from Ft. Yates, but Mr. Stiles had passed away.

Mr. Stiles was born in the Province of Ontario, Canada, in 1869. He came to the United States when a boy and having joined the United States army came to Ft. Yates from Texas with Troop "F," 8th U. S. Cavalry, in 1888. He continued to live in North Dakota since then. After leaving the army he was for a time a trader at the Standing Rock reservation.

Extensive Holdings
The cattle holdings of Mr. Stiles were very extensive. His firm formerly was Stiles and Carrigan. Later it was named the Stiles Cattle company. Mr. Stiles owned a great deal of land in Sioux county and leased a great deal of land on the reservation. His company is, according to the North Dakota Blue Book, the largest of its kind in the entire west. Thousands of head of cattle had been shipped to eastern markets by the company.

Mr. Stiles has been chairman of the board of county commissioners of Sioux county. He has been twice married, the second wife being Miss Volk. He has three children, two daughters and a son.

Funeral services will be held at Ft. Yates tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. There will be cars going from Cannonball to Ft. Yates for persons desiring to attend the funeral.

MISS NIELSON
RUMOR DENIED

Governor Declares He Knows Of No Basis For Report

Investigation of reports emanating from the Nonpartisan league convention that there was disagreement between Miss Minnie J. Nielson, state superintendent of public instruction, and Governor Nestos or others of the state administration, has brought details of the reports.

Asked concerning the reports, Miss Nielson said: "It is news to me. So far as I am aware it is absolutely false."

Governor Nestos denied upon question that there was disagreement between him and Miss Nielson on questions of policy.

"I am sure that as far as I am concerned, there is no trouble brewing," Governor Nestos said, "and there has been no indication as far as I know that Miss Nielson's attitude toward the administration is not friendly. We have discussed a number of matters, and have always agreed upon the policies that ought to be pursued. Both of us believe in maintaining high educational standards, and the greatest efficiency of our common schools; both of us believe in the need of well-trained teachers, and that a good teacher should have a good salary. The laborer is worthy of his hire, and that is most assuredly true when it comes to those who are training the future citizens of the Commonwealth. We also believe in the great need of economy in the government of the state and in the administration of every political subdivision within the state, and do not believe that these economies should be exercised in one department or field of endeavor alone, but that we must try to find every method of saving money that can be accomplished without injuring or seriously handicapping the essential interests involved, and we believe that by having every political subdivision and the state's administration in all of its departments cooperating along this line that a great saving may result, and the tax burden materially lightened."

Charles I Who Made Two Lose Throne During War Is Dead

TRIED TO REGAIN RULE

Made Two Spectacular Attempts in Effort to Regain Control of Empire

Funchal Madeira, April 1.—(By the Associated Press)—Former Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary died here today.

Charles was taken ill at his home in exile slightly more than a week ago. He was first said to be suffering from fever but direct advices from Funchal on March 28 announced that his malady was bronchial pneumonia and later it was stated that he was suffering from pneumonia with cerebral complications.

Charles, and his wife Zita, were sent into exile by the entente allies after he had made spectacular attempts to regain the throne either of Austria or Hungary. Thereafter he was kept a political prisoner on the Portuguese island 400 miles off the African coast.

Although his situation in exile resembled in some respects that of Napoleon at St. Helena, Charles and Zita occupied a much more comfortable position for they were given a pleasant home in the beautiful city of Funchal whose residents treated them with a friendly consideration.

Minneapolis, meeting in state convention here yesterday, endorsed a complete state ticket for the June primary election, headed by United States Senator Frank B. Kellogg and including one woman.

Senator Kellogg received the endorsement on the first ballot, polling 750 of the 1,088 convention votes. His opponents were Oscar Hallam, Associate Justice of the Minnesota state supreme court, and Colonel George E. Leach, mayor of Minneapolis.

Before the result of the ballot had been announced, a motion to make the endorsement unanimous was presented by Ramsey county, which had backed Hallam, and this motion prevailed.

PRES AGAIN NAMED
Incumbents were endorsed for state offices with the exception of clerk of the supreme court, which went to Miss Grace F. Kaercher of Ortonville on the second ballot, and then made unanimous. There were seven candidates for this office.

The other candidates endorsed are: Governor, J. A. O. Preus; Lieutenant-Governor, Louis L. Collins; Secretary of State, Mike Holm; Auditor, Ray P. Chase, Treasurer, Henry Rines; Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner, Ivan Bowen; Attorney General, Clifford L. Hilton.

Senator Kellogg, Judge Hallam and Governor Preus appeared before the convention late in the day after the senatorial and gubernatorial endorsements had been made, and each made a brief address.

ANDERSON AND HEATON TO BE IN RACE AGAIN

Underwood Two Will Seek Re-nomination for Legislature

—In the Primary

Two of Burleigh county's representatives in the last legislature—L. E. Heaton, of McKenzie, and Victor Anderson, of Still—will be candidates for re-election, it is understood. Both are said to have indicated their willingness to make the race for the legislature.

The third member of the Burleigh county delegation—Harold Semling—is now in Washington. Mr. Semling was an ex-service man and it is likely that an ex-service man will make the race this year as one of the trio of representatives. Both Mr. Anderson and Mr. Heaton are said to feel that there should be a Legion man in the delegation.

The convention to be called by E. J. Fogarty, to name delegates to the Jamestown convention, may not endorse candidates for the legislature if it is not likely, it is said, that the convention will name a county ticket.

Mr. Fogarty said today that he was not yet sure just when he would call the convention. In conversation over the long distance telephone he told The Tribune that the time of the call probably would be Monday. Most of the county conventions will be held on April 15. Theodore Koffel of this city, is the district representative of the Spalding Republican committee, but he said today that it was up to Mr. Fogarty to call the convention.

Work will be resumed on the main building, machinery which has been purchased and held in storage will be installed and the secretary was instructed to have plans and specifications prepared for all auxiliary units in connection with the mill.

It was said that it was probably the first time in the history of the country that a major political party has endorsed a woman for the United States senatorship.

Students Display
Interest in Exhibit

Keen interest was manifested among Bismarck students in the exhibit of architectural drawings which has been at the high school this week under the auspices of the Art Teachers' Association of North Dakota. The designs and drawings are the work of architectural students at the North Dakota Agricultural College under the direction of Professor Stanley A. Smith.

The display which consists of such buildings as banks, hospitals, park entrances and the like is an example of what is expressed in architectural drawings according to Professor R. H. Neff who is in charge of the exhibit at Bismarck.

The increased interest in good architecture as used in public buildings, dwelling houses and stores is said to be responsible for the greater interest shown by the students in the practical application of this art. Other exhibits

ARBOR DAY DATE WAS FORMERLY ON APRIL TENTH

This Was Changed By The Legislature To April 22, Mr. Morton's Birthday

Washington, April 1.—The fiftieth anniversary of the first Arbor day is April 22. The month brings also the ninetieth anniversary of the birth of the father of Arbor day, the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the famous Arnold Arboretum; and the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the American Forestry Association at Cincinnati.

J. Sterling Morton inaugurated the first Arbor day in "treeless Nebraska" in 1872. At first the date was April tenth, but later the legislature changed it to April twenty-two, Mr. Morton's birthday.

Schools throughout the country are making plans to celebrate the date and there will be tree planting both this spring and, where conditions are more suitable, in fall. In Washington the American Forestry Association will plant a tree in memory of Morton and in New York City of April 27, the centennial of Grant's birth, it will also plant a tree on Riverside drive near Grant's tomb. The tree is being sent to New York from Grant's farm near St. Louis by August Busch, present owner of the property.

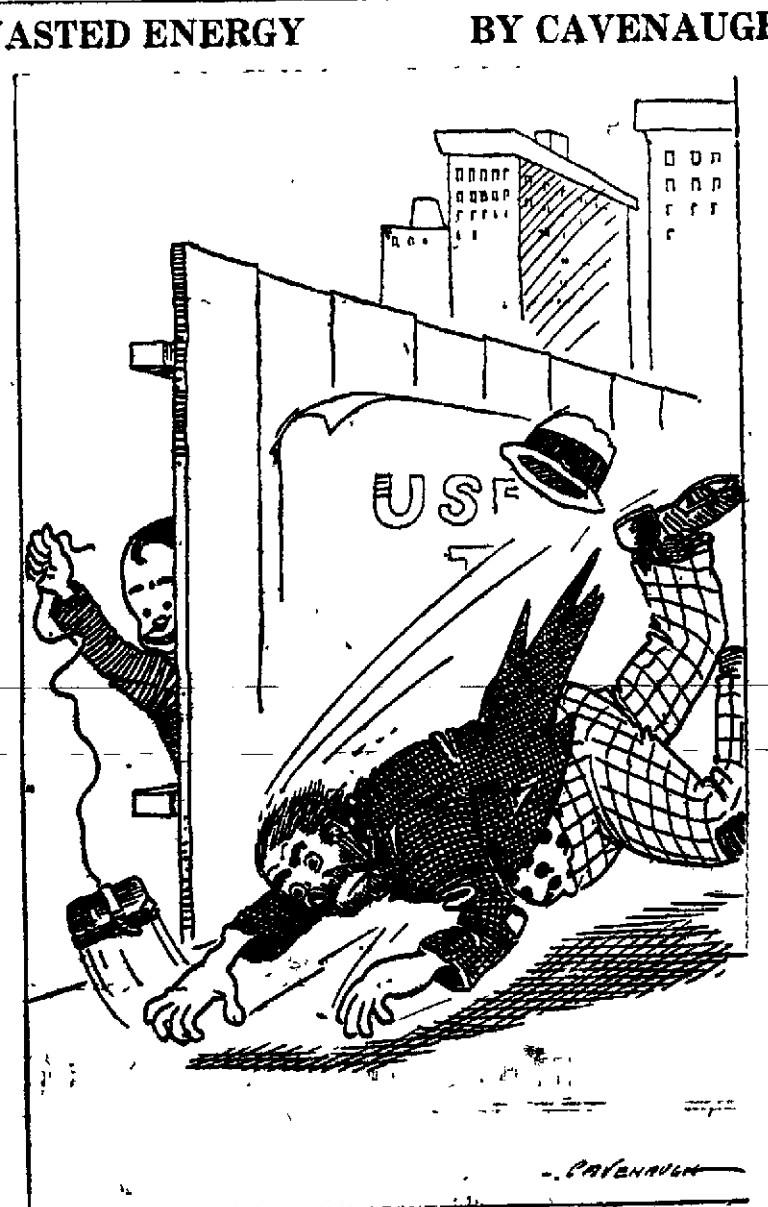

The John Burroughs clubs will inaugurate the Washington tree planting with the placing of a Hall of Fame on the grounds of the Lincoln Memorial. The trees will be red oaks placed in the shape of a half wheel for Burroughs, Whitman, Emerson, Thoreau, Muir. Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, who as a boy knew Burroughs, will plant the tree for the naturalist, whose birthday is Monday.

Since J. Sterling Morton gave a start to Arbor day, the idea has spread throughout the world. His son, Joy Morton of Chicago, has just given a tract of land near that city for an arboretum. The father of Arbor day was born at Adams, Jefferson county, N. Y., in 1832. He was graduated from Union College in 1854, and the following year settled in Nebraska, first at Bellevue, and later at Nebraska City, where he founded and edited the Nebraska City News, the first newspaper to be established in that state.

Mr. Morton was elected to the Territorial legislature in 1856 and in 1868 was appointed secretary of the territory by President James Buchanan. Upon the resignation of Governor W. A. Richardson, a few months later, he became acting governor and local representative of the administration in the bitter struggles in the territory. In 1869 he entered the cabinet of President Grover Cleveland as secretary of agriculture, remaining in office until 1877. President McKinley, in 1901, appointed Mr. Morton one of the commissioners for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

No punctuation marks were used in printing until 1820.

Regular business meeting Monday evening at 7:30 sharp. Master Mason Degree.

IN THE PEOPLE'S FORUM

APPEAL TO SPORTSMEN

Editor Tribune:

To sportsmen and lovers of harmless birds:

Will you help and destroy Crows and Magpies in North Dakota from now until July 1st? Unless drastic means are taken by all of us we will soon have very few song birds or in fact any birds including Grouse, Chickens and Pheasants. For the Crow as an egg eater and the Magpie as a butcher of young birds are at the present time destroying more game birds than is killed by all the hunters combined.

If the sportsmen will organize as an army in all parts of the state and declare war on these two bird murderers! I know we can't in less than three years wipe out the Magpie and reduce the Crow to such an extent that we will again have more song birds and also fifty per cent more chickens and other game birds.

Start your organization today. Call up all your sportsmen that you can think of, and arrange for a meeting soon, and there select one or two days in every week that you go out on a drive, and also make a fund so you can pay the young boys a bounty for every Crow and Magpie they will bring in. In that way you will have the support of all the country boys. Get the support of your paper and

Yours very truly,

Editor Tribune:

Having read a copy of Governor Nestor's Founder's Day address at our state university I wish to congratulate the people of North Dakota on their good fortune in having chosen for our chief executive a man of such sterling Americanism and fearless courage as Governor Nestor evidenced on that occasion. A form of Americanism which is much needed yet rarely found in men holding—but poorly filling—positions as that to which Mr. Nestor has been elevated.

If Governor Nestor will not demonstrate that he has a similar grasp of the urgent need of a concerted and nation-wide effort to stop the wrecking of agriculture in the nature-blessed land of ours, and a similar fearless courage for translating his convictions into effective action, he will thereby have made himself a prominent national figure and may, by such efforts, win the undying gratitude of public and posterity.

When, about thirty years ago, business began integrating under the title of trusts; holding corporations, and price-fixing associations; and labor, in self defense, did what it could to follow suit, their aim was to increase their profits or, more fully gratify their "selfishness and desire for wealth."

Every line and branch of business other than that of farming succeeded in accomplishing those purely selfish aims and their resultant boosting of prices caused what, before the war, was known as "the high cost of living."

Although this integrating of business increased its profits and that of labor increased its wage, the annual national income was not thereby increased one iota. It therefore follows that their gains were at the expense of some other industry and class of our citizens since something cannot be subtracted from nothing and any subtracting of something from something else is an indisputable lessening of that minimum.

In this case the inevitable minus was agriculture, and by 1913 those subtractions had brought the costs of production up to over 88 per cent of the total annual gross receipts of agricultural ture. Now, according to an official report recently issued by Mr. Hoover's department, those subtractions have, in the meantime, been increased by about 65 per cent, making the present total 135 per cent of the annual gross receipts of agricultural.

That is why farmers were forced to sell their 1921 crop at much less than cost of production, and is why rural banks and business concerns were forced to carry the surplus of those subtractions which farmers could not meet, and are therefore on the verge of insolvency.

As this process of economic maladjustment is automatically cumulative so that the amount of those subtractions increases from year to year in an increasing ratio, and since the remedy for this destructive economic injustice must come through our federal government—which is doing absolutely nothing to effect such remedy, and as it must be patent to every citizen that it is but a matter of a very short time when agriculture will have been entirely wrecked and every rural bank and business concern west of the Alleghenies forced into bankruptcy; it follows that it would be both fitting and proper for the governor of this purely agricultural state to take the initiative in launching a vigorous movement calculated to save our agriculture, industrial structure, and civilization from such wrecking, and the American people from the resulting throes of human chaos.

What I have written is not fiction and is based upon incontrovertible facts rather than theory. And as the issue I thus endeavored to bring to the public attention overshadows all other public questions and problems I can see no reason why the members of the press to which I send it should not give it a fittingly prominent position in their columns—unless they are muzzled by the commun enemy, in which case I prefer my position of farmer to theirs when the time of reckoning finally arrives.

ARBOR DAY DATE WASTED ENERGY

BY CAVENAUGH

WAS FORMERLY
ON APRIL TENTH

This Was Changed By The Legislature To April 22, Mr.
Morton's Birthday

Washington, April 1.—The fiftieth anniversary of the first Arbor day is April 22. The month brings also the ninetieth anniversary of the birth of the father of Arbor day, the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the famous Arnold Arboretum; and the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the American Forestry Association at Cincinnati.

J. Sterling Morton inaugurated the first Arbor day in "treeless Nebraska" in 1872. At first the date was April tenth, but later the legislature changed it to April twenty-two, Mr. Morton's birthday.

Schools throughout the country are making plans to celebrate the date and there will be tree planting both this spring and, where conditions are more suitable, in fall. In Washington the American Forestry Association will plant a tree in memory of Morton and in New York City of April 27, the centennial of Grant's birth, it will also plant a tree on Riverside drive near Grant's tomb. The tree is being sent to New York from Grant's farm near St. Louis by August Busch, present owner of the property.

The John Burroughs clubs will inaugurate the Washington tree planting with the placing of a Hall of Fame on the grounds of the Lincoln Memorial. The trees will be red oaks placed in the shape of a half wheel for Burroughs, Whitman, Emerson, Thoreau, Muir. Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, who as a boy knew Burroughs, will plant the tree for the naturalist, whose birthday is Monday.

Since J. Sterling Morton gave a start to Arbor day, the idea has spread throughout the world. His son, Joy Morton of Chicago, has just given a tract of land near that city for an arboretum. The father of Arbor day was born at Adams, Jefferson county, N. Y., in 1832. He was graduated from Union College in 1854, and the following year settled in Nebraska, first at Bellevue, and later at Nebraska City, where he founded and edited the Nebraska City News, the first newspaper to be established in that state.

Mr. Morton was elected to the Territorial legislature in 1856 and in 1868 was appointed secretary of the territory by President James Buchanan. Upon the resignation of Governor W. A. Richardson, a few months later, he became acting governor and local representative of the administration in the bitter struggles in the territory. In 1869 he entered the cabinet of President Grover Cleveland as secretary of agriculture, remaining in office until 1877. President McKinley, in 1901, appointed Mr. Morton one of the commissioners for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition.

HAPPENINGS IN SOCIETY

Over 200 Attend Masonic Dinner Dance at Temple

There's a long, long trail a-winding down to the dining room below. There's a bunch of ladies minding all those good things to eat, you know;

And when I get to the table I know I will do my share For just now I feel able To eat everything but my chair.

The above words to the tune of "There's a long, long Trail," were sung at the Masonic Temple last evening when the guests of the Ladies of the Eastern Star and the Masons were conducted to the dining room where dinner was served at 7 o'clock.

Over 200 people attended the dinner and dance which those attending say was one of the most enjoyable ever held at the Temple. Dancing was in order from 9 until 2. The orchestra led by Mr. Harry Wagner furnished the music. A feature of the evening were the dances by Professor and Mrs. C. Earl JoDell, dancing instructors of the Minneapolis' School of Dancing who were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Murphy. Professor and Mrs. Jo Dell demonstrated the newer slow waltz, also the Rocker waltz, Aviation waltz, and the Exhibitions Wesselyn waltz, and some of the newer fox trot steps.

Prof. and Mrs. C. Earl JoDell came here direct from Minneapolis and are teaching at present at the Bakers hall their classes being well attended so far. They expect to remain here for a short stay.

The dining room was beautifully decorated with mixed flowers and a general color scheme of green and white. During the evening the guests were supplied with paper hats, confetti and noisemakers. After 12 o'clock April Fool stunts were in order.

Much credit for the success of the affair is due the committees in charge. On the reception committee were Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Lobach, Mr. and Mrs. John Setzer, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Lounay and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grady. The entertainment committee consisted of G. P. Little, H. S. Lobach, B. M. Dunn, Arthur Sather, Mrs. F. J. Grady and Mrs. John Setzer. Mrs. J. I. Hix was in charge of the dinner and was assisted by members of the Eastern Star. Mrs. H. F. Keller assisted by Mrs. E. V. Labr was in charge of the dining room and the decorations. Arthur Sather was in charge of the waiters and was assisted by some of the younger men who are Masons.

Senior Class Gives Successful Party

The senior class of the Bismarck high school enjoyed a mock formal party in the high school gymnasium last evening. The fore part of the evening a most interesting program was given which caused much laughter in the audience. Following the program dancing was enjoyed.

Following is the program arranged by the entertainment committee:

Comedy—"A Boarding House Romance," by Tyler Klude.

"Magic Tricks"—by the magicians of the class, Bruce Doyle and Walter Brandt.

Tight rope walking, by Vincent LaFrance.

Dancing was then enjoyed and refreshments were served in the Domes Science room which had been appropriately decorated in purple and orange, the senior class colors. Impromptu toasts were given.

The committees in charge were: Refreshment, Arline Johnson, chairman; Eleanor Provold, Linie Frazier, Zella Parrie, Rachel Mowry and Arlie Anderson. Decoration, Ruth Staley, Arel Anderson and John Hassell. Entertainment, Eloise McKee, chairman; Marlon Staley, Tyler Kludt, Bruce Doyle, Walter Brandt and Mabel Nathan.

Local Club Will Send Delegates

The Bismarck Thursday Musical Club will send delegates to participate in the State Chorus and present a program in Grand Forks.

Artists of international reputation and musicians of the state will aid in making the program of the May Music Festival to be held in Grand Forks May 1, 2, 3, a feast of good things for music lovers. The program committee of the North Dakota Federation of Music Clubs, under the auspices of which the first state festival will be staged, has outlined the events for the three days.

Edward Johnson, famous American tenor, will give a song recital on the evening of Monday, May 1. Enrique Ros, pianist, and Herman Rosen, violinist, winners of the national contest for young musicians in 1921, will appear the second evening. The closing concert on Wednesday evening, May 3 will be given by the big state chorus composed of singers from every section of the state, and directed by E. H. Wilcox of the University.

At the afternoon concerts North Dakota musicians will be heard. The festival will be open Monday afternoon with a concert-recital by Mrs. Frank Temple of Fargo, pianist, and Doyle Watt of Grand Forks, baritone who represented this section of the country at the national contest last year. A church music program of unusual interest will be given Tuesday afternoon and a children's cantata Wednesday.

Tuesday and Wednesday mornings will be given over to the sessions of the Federation in connection with which twenty minute programs will be given by the various clubs represented. Mrs. J. A. Jardine of Fargo will preside.

Practically every organization in Grand Forks has pledged its support for the festival. The city commission has given the use of the city auditorium free of charge for the three days. The university buildings are available, and the commercial club has interested itself actively in the plans. Practically all the choral organizations in the city have signified their intention of joining the state chorus. Church choirs, the Bjornson Singing society, and the Masonic choir will be included.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

(Established 1873)

THE FLAPPER'S SECRET

Lester F. Scott, secretary of the Camp Fire Girls, will tour westward from New York to see how far this "Shifters" movement has spread.

"Shifters" is the secret organization of he and she flappers. It started in New York among high school students. Wanting pin-money, and remembering Barnum's maxim about one being born every minute, they formed a flirts' secret society.

Members wear badges—brass clips. These, by ritual code, are worn in various combinations on hat and other garments, signifying, "I flirt," "You can date me up for tonight," "Yes, I kiss," et cetera, ad jazzem.

A newly initiated member is told that he or she has been stung, and advised to pass the joke along to others.

The "Shifters" movement has spread like wildfire, all through the eastern cities. The badge makers are selling 3500 a day in New York City. Providence flappers bought 20,000 of the brass fraternity pins in a week.

The "Shifters" has had a mushroom growth because any form of secret society thrills and hypnotizes the imagination of youth.

Fundamentally, it is a gold brick, the initiation fee running as high as $4 to $6.

Officials of the Camp Fire Girls say they are organizing against the "Shifters" largely because they discover that it is causing poor girls to spend their money unwisely, the movement now hooking many girls who work for their own living, as well as high school and college flappers.

The "Shifters" craze is the most peculiar psychological wave that has swept the country since jazz music was imported from the underworld dives of Buenos Aires.

While it may be based on a joke—the desire of the stung to pass the sting along—it has dangerous possibilities to the morals of American youth.

It makes its appeal by treading on very thin and forbidden ice. That the nature of the bait appeals to so many among the young should make the grown-ups put on their thinking caps.

No matter how tolerant an observer may be, it is obvious that something is psychically wrong with a large percentage of American youth.

The solution is largely in outdoor sports and more attention to children in the home.

FEW PROGRAM BILLS

Voters should feel relieved that most of the measures it was proposed to initiate fell by the wayside for want of signers. This is a healthy sign of the times. People are becoming suspicious of programs. The recent recall election set the pace for defeating laws via the ballot route.

Now the electors have done even better—they refuse to lend their names to laws in many instances that would only produce chaos and bring the state's credit into disrepute.

As long as the state has the initiative and referendum features in its constitution there will be persistent efforts to secure the passage of laws hastily drawn and often the product of some faction or group of political officials.

It is safer to allow legislation to pass through the legislative mill where some deliberation can be had and an opportunity given to invoke the veto power. Laws placed on the statute books via him up to that time. He went out last fall and the initiative process are hard to repeal or amend. The popular vote gives them a preference on the statute books that they often do not deserve from any standpoint of merit.

The contest in the approaching primaries will not be confused materially by a multitude of laws. Voters usually find it hard to vote advisedly on initiated laws and the fact that it is becoming difficult to get signers to petitions is a hopeful omen that the state is struggling back to normality.

WIRELESS

A good sign that the world is getting sensible again: Invent an improved machine gun or other implement of destruction and you won't get a thousandth part as much attention as by discovering a slight improvement for the wireless.

Boston traffic stands still and becomes deadlocked, watching Samuel Curtis. He appears on the streets, wireless receivers over his ears, carrying his machinery in a small satchel, hearing radiophone messages collected by the ribs of his open umbrella. The radius is 20 miles.

Before long, no matter where, wireless will keep you in constant touch with home and business. Strap-hanging will be less monotonous, hearing concerts and news bulletins over your pocket radiophone.

SMALLPOX

An outbreak of smallpox doesn't worry you as much now as it did when father was a boy. It is a dread disease, dangerous as ever, but it's being rapidly stamped out.

Smallpox now is killing only a sixth as many Americans as in 1902.

Your chance of dying of it this year is less than 1-in-100,000. For this, thank the medical profession.

EINSTEIN

The Einstein theory will be filmed to make it easily understandable by movie audiences. This is sensible. When it comes to getting ideas across, a picture is at least 100 times as powerful as printed type.

Great discoveries, like the Einstein theory, usually are as complex as the brains of their originators. But there is nothing so complex that it cannot be interpreted simply enough for the average mind to grasp it.

We all have master brains. Difficulty is in deciphering the complicated codes.

CORN VS. WHEAT

American corn is taking the place of wheat and rice in the Near East, especially soviet Armenia. This is the result of propaganda by corn exporters.

Corn needs a press agent, more than any other basic commodity. American corn growers, through their organizations, could greatly increase their market by educating the world about food value of corn and how to make it taste enticing.

Salesmanship is the solution of most of our big economic problems—selling a commodity or an idea.

REAL INDEMNITY

Germany lost 46 men killed and 100 wounded for each hour of the World War.

She sent about 13,000,000 into her armies. One out of seven was killed in battle. Total casualties were 1,808,546 dead and 4,246,779 wounded.

These are the final figures just announced after General von Altrock's check-up.

Having buried her dead and patched up her wounded, Germany slowly begins to pay the bill for damages.

So far, the cow hasn't given much milk.

Slow payment has been partly due to the fact that last December was the first month, since the war, in which Germany had a favorable balance of trade—exports exceeding imports, the only way she can pay, not having enough gold.

Now her trade balance is rising gradually—which means, more ability to pay, fortunate for her creditors.

Future generations, cured of war insanity, will recognize this as the real German indemnity.

VERY SIMPLE?

Probably no time in the history of this state have the people been so completely at sea regarding the U. S. senatorship. It is a peculiar condition.

McCumber, by his attitude toward the people of the state, particularly in the matter of appointments, has practically told the people to go to school or some other place equally as hot, and has recognized the stalwart McKenzie faction here, thus telling the independents to go fall in the lake. This has not made the independents feel any too good and the consequence has been that the senior senator fell from public favor very rapidly. His chances for renomination up until a few days ago were nil. Then along comes

Mr. Gronna, who insisted on trying to break into the nonpartisan convention and to be endorsed by that bunch. Up to that time Mr. Gronna had a very fine chance but he made the mistake of his life in trying to ride two horses at one and the same time, and now he has slipped down the downward road very fast.

His actions have eliminated many thousands of voters who thought kindly of him up to that time. He went out last fall and the initiative process are hard to repeal or amend.

It is safer to allow legislation to pass through the legislative mill where some deliberation can be had and an opportunity given to invoke the veto power. Laws placed on the statute books via him up to that time. He went out last fall and the initiative process are hard to repeal or amend.

The contest in the approaching primaries will not be confused materially by a multitude of laws. Voters usually find it hard to vote advisedly on initiated laws and the fact that it is becoming difficult to get signers to petitions is a hopeful omen that the state is struggling back to normality.

A good sign that the world is getting sensible again: Invent an improved machine gun or other implement of destruction and you won't get a thousandth part as much attention as by discovering a slight improvement for the wireless.

Boston traffic stands still and becomes deadlocked, watching Samuel Curtis. He appears on the streets, wireless receivers over his ears, carrying his machinery in a small satchel, hearing radiophone messages collected by the ribs of his open umbrella. The radius is 20 miles.

THREE SIDES OF THE COAL STRIKE

Forced On Us In Effort To Crush Union—Lewis

BY JOHN L. LEWIS
President, United Mine Workers of America.

The United Mine Workers regret more than anyone else the necessity for a suspension of work by the union coal miners of the country.

We have done everything humanly possible to avoid the suspension. For many weeks we have fought hard to induce the coal operators to keep faith with us and with the government and meet us in joint conference, so that a new wage and working agreement might be made that would maintain industrial peace and prevent any inconvenience to the public.

Two years ago the operators solemnly agreed that they would meet with us before April 1. They pledged their word as business men. They signed that agreement in writing in New York. It was a pledge as binding as any bond or promissory note that any set of men ever signed.

Broke Agreement.

We thought they signed it in good faith. But now they refuse to live up to their agreement. They have refused point-blank to do as they agreed they would do. If they were to refuse to pay their debts it would be no more dishonorable than their refusal to keep their agreement with the miners.

In the latter part of last December I asked the operators, in compliance with their promise, to meet with the miners in Pittsburgh to begin negotiations for a new agreement. Illinois and Indiana operators and a part of the Ohio group accepted the invitation, but the operators of the Pittsburgh district and a part of Ohio refused. They merely said they had decided not to keep their word.

They scrapped their agreement, just as the kaiser scrapped his treaties with other nations. And like the kaiser, they started in to destroy the other party to the agreement. The invasion of Belgium by the kaiser was no more ruthless than the invasion of the miners' union by these Pittsburg and Ohio operators.

Seek to Break Union.

They proposed to wreck the union as the kaiser wrecked Belgium and northern France. Suffering and starvation of coal miners and their families became of no greater consequence to them than the suffering of the Belgian and French people.

It is, perhaps, the most notorious and unpardonable case of contract-breaking and disregard for business honor that the country has ever seen.

W. on the Pittsburg and Ohio operators refused to meet with the miners. The Pittsburg meeting was necessarily canceled. Later I issued a second call for a meeting, thinking that perhaps, these men would yet decide to live up to their promises. But they refused again.

Refused U. S. Request.

So flagrant and indefensible was their action that President Harding denounced it and directed Secretary of Labor Davis to call on the operators to keep their word. But they refused even the government.

Instead, they asked the government to keep its hands off and allow the coal companies to make their fight for the destruction of the miners' union. In other words, these coal companies have arbitrarily placed themselves above the government itself and have politely told the government to go to hell.

There may be inconvenience done. The miners, not the cause of that inconvenience, may with good grace ask that those not in the struggle at least give the weight of their moral support to the cause of right and justice and freedom.

Moral Support Needed.

In this struggle we have the authority of the coal industry, ordering with the abandon of mad monarchs. On the other hand we have the miners, always prey to a money-mad chaos in the industry, always earning little more than a bare subsistence and many times not that.

It is truly a question between the plutocrats and the people—the handful who have might and the many who work and who ask only the chance to work and to have some effective voice in determining decent wages and conditions under which to give their essential service to society.

There can be but one place for the moral force of civilization in a struggle such as this.

Scale Agreement.

Our men did not make a living last year and they are not yet making a living, but they are willing to take the chance with the present wage scale for the next two years, in the hope that there will be a business revival that will afford them reasonably steady employment and an opportunity to earn a living for their families. The miners are not quitting work because they want to quit. They want to work. But the operators are determined that they shall not work except at starvation wages, and that the union shall be destroyed so as to deprive the men of all means of protection.

Want Public to Know.

We want the public to know all the facts, because we know that the public will then place the blame where it belongs. The operators started in deliberately to compel the miners to strike.

They have declared that all coal miners shall work for the same miserable rate of starvation wages that are paid to the poor, helpless in the non-union side of West Virginia and Alabama. They are seeking to reduce the level of American citizenship by cutting down the earning capacity of these workers. But the union miners will not stand for it. Nor would any other American citizen stand for it.

Up, Not Down.

Why not work to bring the condition of these non-union men up to the level of the organized fields, instead of dragging the organized fields down to the degraded level of the non-union field?

The United Mine Workers of America face this struggle with the firm belief that the American public realizes they are making a fight for the maintenance of justice in the coal industry and for the preservation of a moral standard in business. We believe business men should live up to their contracts.

Today's word is Psyche.

It's pronounced — see-kie. With accented initial.

It means—pertaining to the mind or soul, having abnormal power, pertaining to the world of spirits.

It comes from—Greek, "psyche," the soul.

It's used like this—"Many supposed psychic manifestations (that is appearances of ghosts, etc.) can be traced to material causes."

Gompers Urges Sympathy Of Public For Miners

BY SAMUEL GOMPERS
President, American Federation of Labor.

I am asked to say for The Tribune what the cessation of work in the coal mines means for all concerned.

Let me try to set forth briefly some vital facts.

The stoppage of work is due to just one cause. In the agreement between mine owners and miners, now expired, there is a clause binding both parties to enter into negotiations to replace the old one.

The miners went to every possible length to keep that pledge. They sought to bring about the conference for which provision had wisely been made.

The mine owners absolutely refused to enter into conference at any time. They made impossible the renewal of the agreement and therefore they made necessary and unavoidable the cessation of work. The blame for stopping the mining of coal is squarely and entirely upon the shoulders of the mine owners and their Wall Street masters.

I can recall no other repudiation of a pledge so disgraceful, so dishonorable as this.

What It Means

What the stoppage of work will mean is for the future to show. For the miners it may mean much hardship. It is sure to mean hardship for many thousands of them. But the workers have always been ready and anxious to pay the price for a principle.

The mine owners must know their game, for they have made it. What they expect is not known to labor. Doubtless they expect to reap a harvest in inflated prices for coal now above ground. We must accept their repudiation of their pledge as the key to their morals in whatever they do as a consequence of and sequel to that repudiation.

There can be no doubt but that the mine owners deliberately forced the cessation of work in the hope of

WOODFILL WON HIS EMBLEMS

Honors Everywhere for Sergeant Who Exterminated Machine Gun Nests and Many Germans.

When Sergt. Samuel Woodfill pays a casual call on a friend nowadays, he is given the "freedom of the city." It is no longer possible for him to travel merely as a "person." The man who cleaned out three machine gun nests and killed 19 Germans as a morning's job found Jersey City, N. J., waiting for him with brass bands when he dropped in to visit the American Legion. The next day he charged over to New York city where, as guest of Supreme Court Judge McCook, he was welcomed from the Bronx to the Battery.

Woodfill says of his soldier-father "that he learned about shootin' from him." And he shifts all the credit for his heroic deeds to the government. "It was just the efficient training of the regular army," he explains. He claims that his twenty years as "regular" should qualify him to speak.

The sergeant wears his laurels well. He is striking in appearance and somewhat serious in manner. He values even more highly than decorations the tribute of his vivacious little wife, who claims he is "peerless at kitchen police duty."

PLAYS PART OF UNCLE SAM

Former Private in Civil War Needs No Makeup to Participate in Pageants and Parades.

Uncle Sam, long the product of cartoonists, is seen in the flesh in the person of George Campbell, former private in the Civil war, who is spending his latter days at the United States Soldiers' Home in Washington, D. C. With his steel blue eyes, white pate, Campbell is such a perfect incarnation of Uncle Sam that he needs no makeup to make him the most attractive figure in a pageant or a parade.

To keep up with the times, Campbell has adopted the George Washington post No. 1 of the American Legion, the first post to be organized. He is the official grandfather of the unit, and takes great pleasure in fighting over the Civil war for the benefit of his younger buddies.

Born in Ireland, Campbell was brought to America as an infant. During the Civil war he served with the Seventeenth Infantry. Now-a-days nothing pleases him more than to don his red, white, and blue costume and lead a parade.

DIFFICULTY ON BRIDGE MAY BE SETTLED SOON

Morton County Abandons Her
Demand for Construction
Of Concrete Viaduct

CAN GET GRAVEL ROAD

The difficulty which has arisen over the Missouri river bridge project will be settled if Morton county carries out a resolution adopted by the state highway commission in session yesterday afternoon, it is believed. P. D. Norton, representing Morton county, indicated that the county would do so.

The resolution, in effect, provides that if Morton county will furnish satisfactory evidence of her ability and willingness to provide one-sixth the cost of a gravel road from the end of the earthen fill to be constructed at the west end of the bridge to the dike at Mandan the highway commission will participate in the project and will seek re-opening to permit the federal government to contribute to it. A meeting of the Morton county board will be held in Mandan next Tuesday.

The Morton county representatives dropped their previous proposal for a concrete viaduct from the end of the bridge into Mandan. The proposed gravel road, it is said, would cost about $75,000, would be rip-rapped and graded. Morton county would not ask Burleigh county participation in the project. There was some objection to the present line of the road, it being said there was a demand by some Morton county farmers that the road go straight west from the bridge through the site of the proposed Catholic college.

Another resolution of the highway commission called attention to the agreement entered into by Burleigh and Morton counties April 13, 1920, for the construction of an earthen fill at the end of the west approach to the bridge, and urged it be carried out. Burleigh county has expressed willingness to stick to this agreement.

Another resolution urged the government to resume payments on the bridge project. There is $260,000 held back by the government and interest charges on the money amount to over $1,500 a month.

Manuel Was "There" So Were The Cops

Key West, Fla., April 1.—Maybe they've stopped making roulette wheels, or perhaps Manuel Gonzalez, operator of a coffee shop here, didn't have a catalog showing where one might be obtained. Anyway, such inconveniences didn't bother Manuel when he decided to install one in the rear of his place recently. Officers raided the shop, seized the layout and upon examination discovered the wheel was home made, manufactured from a disc graphophone record. The record had been printed had numbers from 1 to 30, and officials who scraped some of the paint away discovered it was originally a vocal rendition of "There's No Place Like Home."

Gonzalez failed to tell the court whether the title of the hidden song was a warning to those who bucked the wheel or whether he regarded it as a lucky omen for the "house."

COMPENSATION BUREAU ISSUES PUBLICITY BOOK

Commissioners of the Workmen's Compensation Bureau, in meeting here, decided to issue a publicity pamphlet designed to show benefits claimed by the bureau to accrue to the employer, employee and public under the law. The pamphlet will be illustrated with photographs of maimed persons and reports of numerous cases.

The bureau has awarded Jim Larson, of Courtenay, entitled under the law to about $3,000 for partial loss of a hand, the money in a lump sum to permit him to buy a garage. The bureau has decided to allow Arnold Becker, of New Salem, sufficient out of lump sum payment due him for loss of an arm in a coal mine accident to enable him to buy an artificial arm. It was held that under the law the bureau could not purchase an artificial arm for him as a part of medical service.

BUSINESS GOOD, SAYS AUTO FIRM

New Touring Car Price of Overland Wins Business

"The new price of $550.00 for the powerful, easy-riding Overland Touring Car, has by sheer merit of economy, quality and comfort, placed this car in a dominant place in the light car field," said W. E. Lahr of the Lahr Motor Sales Company today.

"When we are asked, 'How's business,' we hesitate to tell the truth for fear of being doubted; but it's a fact nevertheless," said Mr. Lahr, "that we had the best March we've had in three years. Of course, the improvement in business conditions hasn't all to do with it, for we consider that the present extremely low prices on Overland, Nash and Willys-Knight cars have brought a lot of people into the market. Then, too, automobile owners and through them prospective buyers, have learned that to obtain thoroughly satisfactory service from a motor car it is necessary to own a car that is backed up by an automobile merchant not simply selling cars, but selling transportation, and seeing to it that the purchaser obtains prompt, efficient and economical service. In other words," said Mr. Lahr, "automobile buyers are beginning to realize that they are buying transportation, and that it takes more than just an automobile to render satisfactory transportation."

LARRY SEMON GETS TOO NEAR BUZZ SAW

Larry Semon had a close shave in making one of the funny scenes for "The Sawmill," shown at Capitol Theatre tonight. The comedy king was forced to sit near a big buzz saw and look coquettish for this scene. A foreman, not observing that Larry was seated upon the log, started the saw going, and the comedian was carried past the revolving cutter. When the scene was finished the funny man discovered that the brim of his hat in back had been clipped off close to his head. When the comedian discovered this the smile froze on his face and pallor took its place which was not caused by white powder. He had intended to sit near the whirling saw—but not that.

"The Sawmill" was taken in the lumber camps of California, and provides some beautiful shots of the northern part of the United States.

KRAUSE EASY VICTOR IN BOUT

Disposes of Sailor Billy Peoples Of Glendive in Second Round

Battling Krause added another victory to his string last night in the fair grounds arena in Mandan when he knocked out Sailor Billy Peoples of Glendive, Mont. In the second of a scheduled 10-round boxing bout Peoples was fast and hit Krause frequently in the first round but his punches lacked steam. Krause had no trouble disposing of him. The first round was a pretty exhibition of floor work.

Freddie Fitzgerald, of Stanton, failed to show up and Charles McDonald, of Bismarck, substituted in a three round bout with Les McDonald, of Mandan. They went a nice three rounds.

Jack Fleck and Lyle Gray participated in four spirited two-minute rounds.

Johnny Hoffman and Johnny Miller, both of Mandan, went four rounds Hoffman having the better of theistic argument.

Leonard Meilecke and Al Shaw, formerly of Mandan, but later of Dickinson, were pulled out of the ring in the second round for stalling. Al Barton of Bismarck, refereed the bouts and gave fine satisfaction.
